FY25 Additional One-Time Request - IBS Conference Budget

Coog Radio has the pleasure to maintain successful radio hosts with bright voices and passion for broadcasting. With the opportunity of attending the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System, also known as IBS Conference, in NYC 2025, Coog Radio can allow three members alongside an advisor to gain opportunities for awards and networking with other college radio personalities. IBS, a non-profit organization, prides itself on supporting passionate student-led media and creating a community within radio. To attend the IBS Conference, Coog Radio will build student morale and boost commitment to media. We request for funding to attend this conference between the dates of March 7-8, 2025. Future members who begin a radio show will be motivated by being able to attend this conference by showing passion and consistency in performance, therefore the conference provides benefits in providing drive for the organization and networking opportunities in broadcasting.
